ST. JOE STRIKES BACK AT PENETRATOR ROADBLOCK

Fight Over Sewer Line Easements

Township Sues For Right To Use Land

St. Joseph's township roadblock of a proposed 1-94 penetrator today appeared to be drawing retaliation that could delay construction of a $2.7 million sewage collection system for St. Joseph and Lincoln townships and the Village of Stevensville.

The delay, if it is prolonged, would hit Stevensville hardest. The village is under state orders to provide sewage disposal treatment and already is installing lateral pipelines inside its limits.

SUITS ARE FILED

The probability that St. Joseph is exerting pressure on St. Joseph township cropped up Monday when the township filed six condemnation suits in Berrien county circuit court to obtain sewer line easements.

One of the defendants is the City of St. Joseph.

St. Joseph city officials have been trying to get St. Joseph township officials to agree to a State Highway department plan for an I-94 penetrator into the city through the township. But township officials have demurred, using a piece of undeveloped park land in the penetrator's path to delay construction. The township has contended in the courts, so far successfully, that the state cannot condemn the park for its penetrator.

Meanwhile, St. Joseph has agreed with St. Joseph and Lincoln townships and Stevensville on construction of the sewage collection system that will be linked to the St. Joseph-Benton Harbor joint sewage disposal plant.

The City of St. Joseph and five other property owners have refused to give St. Joseph township rights of way for the sewer line leading through St. Joseph township to Lincoln and Stevensville. The city's refusal, at least, appears designed to force St. Joseph township to give the green light to the I-94 interconnector, possibly other city proposals, as well.

A recent point of debate that is probably involved is a fight over proposed removal of an old, city-owned cemetery in the township. The township went to court and successfully blocked abandonment of the cemetery and transfer of the graves.

The city property that the township seeks to condemn in its suit filed yesterday lies on the north side of Hickory creek and west side of Cleveland avenue near the controversial, old Highland cemetery.

Other defendants in Monday's suits are Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Klann, Franklin Real Estate Co., Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Holland, Mr. and Mrs. Ludwig Schneider, and Mr. and Mrs. Patrick J. McMullen.

NAMED IN SUIT

Township Atty. John L. Crow said the suits named the defendants as property owners where easements are sought for a subsurface sewer interconnector located mostly along Hickory creek.

High Court Tosses Out Bomb Law

'Unreasonable Search' Case Brings Change

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The Michigan Supreme Court struck down Monday portion of the state constitution dealing with search and seizure of firearms and bombs, saying the provision was in conflict with the U.S. Constitution.

The state constitution provides that prohibition against unreasonable search and seizure "shall not be construed to bar evidence in any criminal proceeding a gainst narcotic drug, firearm, bomb, explosive or any other dangerous weapon, seized by a police officer outside the curtilage of any dwelling house in this state."

AGAINST U.S. LAWS

The court, in an opinion signed by five of the seven justices, ruled that the constitutional provision was contrary to federal constitutional provisions dealing with the right of privacy and due process of law.

Signing the opinion written by Justice John R. Dethmers were Thomas E. Brennan, chief justice; Eugene F. Black, Thomas M. Kavanagh and Thomas G. Kavanagh. Justices Paul Adams and Harry F. Kelly disputed the ruling.

The ruling reverses a lower court conviction of Lawrence Pennington, found guilty of carrying a dangerous weapon in a motor vehicle after he was arrested and found to be drunk. The case was sent back for retrial.

When state police arrested Pennington in Detroit on a drunken driving charge, they took his car keys, had him taken to a police post and the car towed to a gas station.

Pennington was interrogated for about 15 minutes then turned over to the desk officer while another officer went to the gas station and searched his car.

In the glove compartment, he found a partly filled bottle containing some whiskey and a loaded revolver.

Pennington subsequently was charged with carrying a dangerous weapon in a motor vehicle. WHISKEY OUT

The trial court ruled that the search and seizure were unlawful and it excluded the bottle of whiskey from evidence introduced at Pennington's trial. But it received the revolver and bullets because of the state constitutional provision forbidding the barring of the gun and bullets.

Pennington was found guilty of that weapons charge.

The Supreme Court agreed with the lower court's finding that the search and seizure were unlawful, saying "the reason for the arrest (drunken driving) gave no cause for the search of the automobile after the defendant was already in custody."

It further found that the state Constitutional section excluding guns from the search and seizure prohibitions was contrary to the U.S. Constitution.

The state high court indicated that although the U.S. Supreme Court had not yet ruled on Michigan's constitutional provision, it expected any such ruling would be the same.

Tax Millage Freeze Will Be Discussed

Township officials in Berrien county will be asked to react to several alternate proposals on a tax millage freeze at the monthly meeting of the Berrien chapter of the Michigan Townships association.

The meeting is scheduled at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at the Lincoln township hall in Stevensville.

Several possible tax freeze plans will be outlined by a committee that met recently with representatives of the intermediate school district. Members of the chapter's committee are Robert Feather, Oronoko township supervisor, and Ivan Price, Buchanan township supervisor.

Interest in a possible millage freeze, once defeated by county voters several years ago, was renewed this spring after the county tax allocation board shifted thin slices of the 15-mill tax pie from the schools to the county and intermediate school district.

State law permits the property tax limit to be increased from the existing 15-mill level to a maximum of 18 mills, with the shares that go to the using governmental units fixed permanently. Approval by the voters is required.

State Senator Charles Zolnar, who was tentatively scheduled to address the meeting on other topics will be unable to attend.

Another item for discussion by the township official will be proposals to assess farm properties according to actual useage.

Dr. Baillif Will Head Research, Engineering

Replacing Mahaffay As Whirlpool Veep

Dr. E. Allen Baillif has been named vice president, research and engineering for Whirlpool corporation, effective Oct. 1, 1970. He will replace William E. Mahaffay, whose plans to retire at that time were announced last month.

Baillif will have responsibility for corporate research and engineering, manufacturing research, life support, product safety and environmental engineering research.

Baillif currently is director of corporate engineering and was elected a vice president of Whirlpool in 1968.

In making the announcement, Whirlpool President John H. Platts noted that "Dr. Baillif is particularly well suited for this assignment by virtue of his extensive experience in all phases of home appliance engineering and research at Whirlpool. There is no more critical area of responsibility in a product oriented company such as ours; for the work done here not only will determine the kinds of products we will be building and marketing in the years ahead, but also whether we will be able to continue to meet the demands of increasingly quality and service-conscious consumers on a sound, profitable basis."

Baillif began his career in the home appliance industry in 1953, when he joined Seeger Refrigeration company as an engineer in its Evansville division. In 1957, after Seeger's merger with Whirlpool, he was named chief engineer for Whirlpool refrigerators and freezers.

Three years later, he was promoted to director of engineering for Whirlpool's St. Paul (Minnesota) Division and in 1963, became general manager of Whirlpool's laundry group engineering function in St. Joseph, Michigan.

Baillif has bachelor's, master's and Ph. D. degrees in engineering from the University of Minnesota. While a graduate student, he also served as an instructor on the university staff and did consulting work with General Mills and Shaefer Refrigerator company in Minneapolis.

He currently is chairman of the Engineering Standards and Safety Board of the Association of Home Appliance Manufacturers, and is also active in other professional engineering and research associations and has authored several scientific papers.

Transplant Of Cornea Made At South Haven

BY TOM RENNER
South Haven Correspondent

SOUTH HAVEN — An attempt to establish an eye collection center at South Haven Community hospital became a reality late Monday when members of the South Haven Lions Club successfully completed the transfer of human eyes from Ann Arbor for a cornea transplant.

Dr. H. David Fenske, a South Haven ophthalmologist, and the South Haven Lions Club have been working nearly a year to begin a co-operative program with the Michigan Eye Collection Center, which is headquartered at the University of Michigan.

The receipt of the human eyes signals the start of what Dr. Fenske hopes will be a regular exchange program in cooperation with the Lions club.

The human eyes delivered to South Haven were used for a cornea transplant early today for an unidentified Allegan woman. It is the first eye transplant operation in the history of the South Haven hospital.

They were donated to the collection center by a 49-year-old Ann Arbor man who died Monday morning from injuries suffered in an automobile accident.

The eyes were transported from Ann Arbor to Benton Harbor by bus and from Benton Harbor to South Haven by Tom Thomson of South Haven deputy district governor of Lions Clubs in Southwestern Michigan.

Fresh tissue eye transplants must be accomplished with 48 hours from the time the eyes are received from the donor.

The co-operation of the Lions clubs is needed because of the importance of timely communication between donors and recipients.

Dr. Fenske said that he plans to establish a collection center in South Haven. Persons who wish to make it known that they would be willing to donate their eyes upon death may contact Dr. Fenske, any member of the South Haven Lions club or the South Haven Community hospital.

Things Don't Change Much In Commie Lands

Western observers during the past several years have frequently commented on what they have seen as a slow shift in the Soviet Union toward application of capitalistic style incentives to spur production. To many the substitution of even a modified incentive system for the hard discipline of communist dogma was an encouraging sign that one day there might be some sort of common meeting ground between the Soviet Union and the United States.

All such reasoning now appears to have been wishful thinking. As the USSR's latest of an interminable series of five-year plans drew to a close, communist leaders served notice that even such faint gestures toward voluntarism as have been made will henceforth be obliterated. This seems to be the meaning of recent events in the USSR.

Bernard Gwertzman, in a copyrighted New York Times News Service feature, analyzes the "self-criticism" campaign which Soviet leaders are directing toward virtually every phase of Soviet economic management. Alleged cause for the campaign is the poor showing of the USSR economy at the end of the current five-year plan. Apparently, it has gone the way of all Soviet five-year plans and has fallen far short of production targets and political promises. As a result, writes Gwertzman, "Hundreds, perhaps thousands, of workers, managers, low and middle echelon party and government officials, and even some ministries have received

Remember The Dodo

It took a long time to reverse the kind of thinking that allowed the passenger pigeon to be exterminated and the American bison to be brought to the brink of extinction.

In more recent years, as civilization has encroached upon the wildernesses of the world, the draining of swamps and felling of forests have driven the native fauna from its natural habitat and deprived it of the means of survival.

The creation of Kruger National Park in the eastern Transvaal as a sanctuary for African wildlife at the turn of the century was a massive step in the right direction. Since then, wildlife preserves, large and small, have been established in almost all parts of the globe. In some, alien herds of dwindling species are kept for return, in some cases, to their native lands.

It is one of man's peculiar and more admirable qualities that leads him, while apparently hell-bent on destroying his own species, to give attention to the preservation of the animals which share the earth with him.

Classifieds Have A Birthday Too

It will be news to many that the classified ad, the little three-liner that is crowded into tiny type, is 266 years old. Some say it is the oldest form of advertising in North America.

The first want ads appeared in 1704, in the Boston News-Letter. Last year more than a billion criticism publicly in meetings and in the press. The only people spared so far have been the ruling elite in the Communist party."

Although the whip of dictatorship has enjoyed no noteworthy success in the past, communist leaders instinctively prefer it to the incentive methods of capitalism. The party leader, Leonid Brezhnev, has approved the present campaign of self-criticism, as it is benignly called. In reality, it is a campaign based, as Gwertzman puts it "... on the traditional Soviet practice of exhortation and discipline."

These are the traditional tools of communism and rest on the idea that the best way to get people to produce is to instill enthusiasm for government programs by force, if necessary. Labor discipline includes a drive against drunks. Writers are being induced to turn out theoretical articles praising the working class. New laws penalize "shirkers and other malcontents."

Some observers see the sudden switch, or reversion, to oppression as a consequence of the likening by critics of relaxation of Soviet economic control of the past few years to the policies adopted in Czechoslovakia under Alexander Dubcek. Such a comparison was apparently too much for communist leaders to swallow. They wiped out economic liberalism in Czechoslovakia and thus could hardly be expected to countenance it in the Soviet system. The deputy director of Gosplan, the powerful USSR state planning committee, probably wrote the epitaph of decentralization and economic liberalism when he quoted Lenin's dictum: "rejection of central direction and planning on a national scale cannot serve as the path for the general line of development of a great Socialist economy."

Another reason given by some Western experts for the return of the Soviet Union to the harsh disciplines of traditional communism is that the leaders of the USSR very likely realize pay incentives mean little to the average man when he can't buy anything with the added money he earns. Consumer goods production is extremely low by U.S. standards. It is virtually impossible for the Soviet consumer to get such expensive items as cars, cooperative apartments, attractive furniture, pianos and such things as imported clothing of high quality. Gwertzman pointed out, "... in the last year there have been unusual shortages of such necessities as matches, dishes, children's shoes, teapots, as well as long periods without meat or fresh vegetables."

Whether this state of affairs in the Soviet Union can be remedied by "exhortation and discipline" remains to be seen. The record of history leaves little room for optimism.

lines of classified advertising appeared in the nation's newspapers. Classified advertising has been termed everybody's advertising, and it is not difficult to fathom why this is so.

A large percentage of newspaper readers scans the classified ads assiduously. They are interesting reading, and a handy guide to bargains and services that it would be impossible to locate by any other method.

Classified ads have an uncanny knack of getting buyer and seller together. Because they are unapologetically advertising with no other reading matter to separate them, classifieds prove that people buy newspapers to read the ads as well as for news and entertainment. The classifieds pull their weight, no doubt of that.

A 266th birthday is no small occasion, and it is appropriate that a few lines of space in larger type be devoted to a salute to a section of the paper which is set in a more modest type face.

ANIMAL CRUELTY BILL ADVANCING
Good news. The House Agriculture Subcommittee on Livestock and Grains has held hearings on the Whitehurst bill, H.R. 13957. The bill would immensely strengthen existing legislation, protective of animals to be used in biomedical activities.

That legislation, "The Laboratory Animal Welfare Act of 1966" P.L. 89-544 sets standards for some of the dealers who sell animals to laboratories. It also sets standards for a few animals in some laboratories before they are experimented upon. It was a good beginning.

The Whitehurst bill and the amendments to it would extend coverage to all animal dealers and all animals in all laboratories, as well as animals in zoos and circuses.

If enough interested people write, urging Rep. Graham Purrell and his Committee to give sympathetic consideration to the amendments proposed by the national humane organizations, these strengthening amendments will become law before Congress adjourns.

Chairman Purrell may be addressed at the House Agriculture Subcommittee on Livestock and Grains, House Office Building, Washington, D.C. 20515.

..And Speaking Of Your Health

For the past two months I find that I awaken at 26 minutes after five each morning. I then fall back to sleep. This happens with no relationship to the time I go to sleep. Is there any way to account for this odd experience?

Mr. S. P. There are few more wondrous mechanisms than the biological time clocks that reside within the human body. Your experience is not unique and occurs with the same startling regularity in many people. Plants and animals also have their own built-in time mechanisms which defy the imagination. Only occasionally are we allowed some scientific insight into why they occur.

I recall a tiny fish, the grunion, which comes out of the water at full moon and lays its eggs in the sand before high tide. This time clock is probably the result of millions of years of inbreeding. Moreover, the opening and closing of morning glories has been timed to the very second by students of flowers and plants.

I am not trying to avoid explaining the wonderful phenomenon of periodicity that happens to you. Rather am I trying to show you the enchanting time sequences that happen to the body and to the mind, in sickness and in health.

Certainly the most remarkable of all timing mechanisms is that which occurs to women during their menstrual cycle and during pregnancy.

Some organs of the body have a 12-hour, 24-hour and 48-hour time clock. The wonders of these mechanisms have been studied in the most complicated ways. Always there is an observation and almost always there is little or no explanation. Many of these cycles continue without interruption despite the stars, the weather, or the whereabouts.

Dr. Curt P. Richter of the Johns Hopkins Medical School has written a remarkable book called "Biological Clocks in Medicine and Psychiatry." In it he describes the regularity of clock mechanisms in experimental animals and in human beings. One of the most remarkable cases included in the book is that of a young Belgian girl born in 1850:

"At 13 years, Louise Lateau suddenly developed severe pain in her left breast, from which she started to bleed every Friday. Subsequently, she also began to bleed each Friday from all the sites from which Christ had bled on the Cross." This is an astonishing case report.

while a defender sees only a portion of his side's resources and a portion of declarer's and can only theorize about the location of the unseen cards.

Here is a case where the defense slipped badly. It is true that South made an excellent play to give East a chance to go wrong, but, even so, East should not have fallen into the trap.

West led a diamond and declarer played low from dummy, permitting East to win with the ten. South realized he had no chance if the defense switched to hearts at trick two, and he tried to make it easy for East to continue diamonds.

East should have returned a heart and his side could then have cashed three heart tricks to put declarer down one. But East found it much easier to continue diamonds after the ten held the trick. He played the ace and South was able to cash six spades and four clubs to make the contract.

Had declarer put up the jack of diamonds at trick one, East would have been forced to shift to a heart and South would have gone down one. Despite declarer's excellent play at trick one, East should have known from the bidding that South had a singleton diamond and that a heart shift was absolutely mandatory.

WASHINGTON — Administration supporters took special note of Sen. William Proxmire's recent tribute to President Nixon's Vietnam war policies.

The Wisconsin Democrat, a frequent critic of the administration's foreign and domestic positions, hailed Nixon for his "peace-directed reversal of the war escalation policy of the previous administration" in a speech before a home-state college audience.

"President Nixon is doing his honest best to end the Vietnam war as swiftly as he can," Proxmire said. "His policies, if continued, will permit us to reduce our overall military force by one million men. It will help end the draft. It will keep us out of future wars."

Special Meeting Next Week

Atty. Lester Page Is Re-Elected Board President

The board of education of Benton Harbor Area schools will hold a special meeting, probably next week, to start formal action on the Englehardt report calling for a new high school.

Supt. Mark E. Lewis outlined a timetable of legal and policy actions necessary to bring a new high school will take three people by next spring. To go through channels of legal and financial red tape and build a new high school till take three to four years, he said.

Several citizens at last night's meeting questioned the concept of a "school within a school" as proposed by planner Dr. Nikolaus Engelhardt. But no strong objections were expressed after Lewis explained the plan for four units of houses of about 750 students each on a single campus with a core for central administration, library and laboratories for specialized subjects.

Lewis said the individual units provide the advantages of a small high school and the central campus has the advantages of a large one with broadened curriculum.

OFFICIAL GOAL

At a special meeting the board will decide on making the school within a school its official goal.

The board held its organizational session last night and re-elected Atty. Lester Page, president; Atty. James Nettleton, vice president, and William Naylor, treasurer. Mrs. Dorothy Blakeslee was named secretary to succeed Dr. Harzel Taylor who did not seek re-election last month. Newly-elected Mrs. Nancy Taylor took her seat on the board.

Dr. Lewis said the school within a school is intended to avoid the issues of segregation and attendance lines which could arise if the district operated two or more senior highs. He conceded segregation could be a question in the four units but "we won't let that happen," they'll be completely integrated and heterogeneous.

Engelhardt presented his master plan for the district at a public meeting in May. He estimated a senior high for 3,000 students would cost $14.5 million, exclusive of land. A 100-acre campus was recommended. Present senior high would become a middle school for grades 6-7-8.

Lewis said the high school was the top priority item in the master plan. Each unit would house grades 9-12 under a headmaster or vice principal. Students would stay in the same unit throughout their high school careers. They would take basics such as English, math and social sciences in their own unit and go to the core section for specialized subjects and electives.

STRIKER ARRESTED: St. Joseph officers escort Phillip Driver (center), 20, Benton township, from picket line at Whirlpool St. Joseph division plant Monday afternoon, charging he hurled an egg at a car. Driver pleaded innocent to littering count in district court. Escorting him here are Patrolman Dennis Soucek (left) and Det. Thomas Cooper. It was fourth arrest of day as IAM union pickets opposed return to work movement invited by company. The arrested man is no relation to Whirlpool St. Joseph division manager Bernard Driver. Restraining Order Is Obtained

Back-To-Work Movement In Its Second Day

Relative calm prevailed this morning in the second day of a back-to-work move at strike-bound Whirlpool Corp. at St. Joseph division as union men faced a Berrien circuit court preliminary restraining order limiting the number of pickets at plants.

Today's calm was in contrast to Monday morning, when some of 300 strikers clashed with about 50 police outside St. Joseph division Plant No. 3 on North Upton drive, St. Joseph.

This morning approximately 150 strikers stood on either side of the entrance to Plant 3, while 15 to 20 strikers paraded in a circular fashion in the entrance-way.

The marching strikers parted upon police orders to open the drive to persons entering the plant.

CHOICE WORDS

Outside of a few choice words directed at police and persons entering the plant, the appearance of tacks in the driveway, and a number of firecrackers, the scene was calm. No physical violence occurred.

One arrest was made this morning, however, when St. Joseph police apprehended and charged a man with littering the plant driveway with nails. Taken into custody was James Erich Kesterke, 20, of 1101 Union street, Benton Harbor.

Three men were arrested there about 7 a.m. Monday, one man was hurt but apparently not seriously, and a fourth was arrested later in the day.

At 6:10 p.m. Monday, Whirlpool Corp. acted through Benton Harbor Atty. Elden W. Baugh to obtain from Judge Julian Hughes a preliminary restraining order against union pickets to a maximum of 10 at or near any of a Whirlpool plant in St. Joseph or Benton Harbor.

The order also enjoined members and officers of International Association of Machinists and Aerial Workers and Local 100 from hindering or threatening pool employees entering Whirlpool plants with nails at or near plant, or damaging Whirlpool in the Twin Cities.

Judge Hughes also ordered the defendants to appear in court Wednesday at 10 a.m. and show cause why a preliminary injunction covering most of the preliminary restraining order should not be issued.

Local 1918 of IAM, which has 1,800 workers it represents at St. Joseph division since May 11 in a new contract dispute. Recent talks between union and management broke off in discord over a new company offer.

One man was injured and three were arrested at 7 a.m. Monday as pickets clashed with policemen at Whirlpool Plant No. 3 in St. Joseph in the first morning of a back-to-work move by the company. A fourth man was arrested later Monday.

Union officials earlier denounced the back-to-work move as an attempt to break the union and said Monday about 75 persons, mostly college-age men, reported for work. No estimated was immediately

Teacher Pay Contract Ratified By SJ Board

Dr. Ray Re-Elected President

St. Joseph school board ratified the master contract negotiated with the St. Joseph Education association last night. The one-year agreement provides for annual salary hikes ranging from $700 to $1,260.

The St. Joseph Education association, which represents the district's 220 teachers and school nurses, approved the new contract July 7.

The new contract was finally worked out in June 25 and July 1 meetings with a state labor mediator after 13 bargaining sessions between the two teams.

FOR NEW METHOD

Dr. Dean K. Ray, who had earlier been re-elected to his fifth term as president of the school board, said: "I would hope the teachers and the school boards of this state can very soon find a more efficient manner in arriving at a contract which can supply both the needs of the teachers and the district."

The new agreement provides for a beginning salary for a teacher with a bachelor's degree of $7,600, up from $6,900, and a maximum of $11,628 in 11 years. A teacher with a master's degree will begin at $8,740, up from $7,935 and may reach $13,080, up from $12,420, in 13 steps.

Under the new contract the district will provide a $5,000 life insurance policy for each teacher and will continue to pay for hospitalization coverage limited to the MEA carrier. Previously Michigan Blue Cross - Blue Shield hospital-medical insurance was also available. The single carrier will save the district $4,000 a year, Schools Supt. Richard Ziemer estimated.

Teachers will meet Aug. 31 and Sept. 1 and the first day of instruction will be Sept. 2. Labor day this year is Sept. 7. Thanksgiving, Nov. 26 and the next day will be off. Christmas vacation will be from Dec. 21 to Jan. 1. Spring vacation runs from April 5-9.

An agency shop provision, requiring teachers to either join the local, state and national teacher organizations or to pay a fee equal to the dues, was a part of the previous agreement between the board and teachers.

That agreement permitted workers with the option of taking a two per cent penalty in salary if they did not wish to belong to the teacher group.

The two per cent option has been removed and a special clause added which exempts any teachers who were not members of the association in 1969-70 from membership or contribution obligation.

Payment for driver training teachers will be at three fourths the teacher's regular salary for behind the wheel time. Summer classroom teaching will continue at 100 per cent.

Teachers Are Needed By SJ Schools

Six weeks before St. Joseph Public schools are scheduled to open assistant superintendent for instruction, Doyle Anderson, said he needs speech correctionists, a mathematics teacher and upper elementary instructors.

Anderson said in the past, appeals for teachers were heeded by qualified instructors who live in the area but who had not planned to teach. But they decided they could help, then signed up.

180 DAYS OF SCHOOL

St. Joe Board Okays Calendar For 1970-71

St. Joseph Public schools will open—for the first time in history—before Labor day, have a two-week Christmas vacation and run 180 days to June 11, 1971.

St. Joseph school board approved the calendar last night. Milton Junior High School Principal Pat Ryan said the calendar committee juggled four different versions before the list was completed.

Teachers will meet Aug. 31 and Sept. 1 and the first day of instruction will be Sept. 2. Labor day this year is Sept. 7. Thanksgiving, Nov. 26 and the next day will be off. Christmas vacation will be from Dec. 21 to Jan. 1. Spring vacation runs from April 5-9.

In approving their bandshell recommendations, Commissioner Richard Globensky said the commission should reserve the right to consider future requests on their own merit.

OTHER BUSINESS

In other action, the commission passed in its first reading a new pension ordinance for city employees and adopted new personnel rules.

According to City Manager Leland Hill, the proposed pension program will increase the annual cost to the city by almost $24,000, bringing this year's total to almost $131,000. With this added expenditure, Hill said, employee pensions will be increased by a small amount. The bulk of the resolution, he noted, consists of changes in wording recommended by the city's actuary to comply with legal rulings. A second reading is required for adoption.

Approved by the commission were 23 pages of personnel rules. City Manager Hill presented them to commissioners as a compilation of existing rules, both written and unwritten. They are "basically the same" as existing rules, he said, but serve to define policy more clearly.

They cover such areas as suspension, retirement plans, funeral leave, maternity leave and holiday pay.

DEMOLITION ORDERED

Commissioners gave the House of David 30 days to tear down the House of David cold storage building at 1104 Broad street. City Attorney Arthur G. Preston, Jr., said negotiations between the House and the city for purchase of the property had broken down last week.

The cold storage building is the main building on the site. For several months now the city has been seeking either the restoration or demolition of buildings at the former Jams and Jellies factory, which the city has determined substandard.

Commissioners adopted a resolution requiring a permit from the city manager for the use of a sound amplifier, whether stationary or mounted, on any street or public place.

According to the city attorney a public place is generally interpreted as one owned and operated by the city and would not include such places as motels or night clubs, where amplifiers are employed. The

Benton Harbor Erases Good Share Of Deficit

From $130,000 To $20,000

Benton Harbor's city government, on a bread and water spending budget since February, has erased most of a projected $150,000 cash deficit for the budget year which ended June 30.

City Manager Don C. Stewart told the city commission last night that he estimates the deficit at $20,000 in the general operating part of the total $2.9 million budget.

Stewart commended heads of departments for making erasure possible. The officials were placed on a reduced spending figure in February to offset the projection, he said.

Stewart said the actual deficit would not be determined until the city auditing firm completes its review of last year's operation.

CAUSE OF DEFICIT

The projected deficit resulted from the non-receipt of certain revenues forecast for financing the $2.1 million general fund budget. They had been labeled highly speculative by Stewart when projected for the budget.

Stewart's comments on the deficit came in an explanation of a computer report covering budget figures for the year. The figures showed a $130,218 surplus in general operating accounts.

This is the amount the department did not spend to make up the loss of actual cash, according to Stewart.

The report showed only one major department with a substantial deficit in expenses. The police department recorded expenses of $667,764.48 for the year compared to the $634,660 it had been budgeted.

OVERTIME PAY

Much of the $33,104 overage, Stewart indicated, came from costs of officers working overtime.

In other areas, the commission:

Denied a request from Barry Martin for a rock concert at Jean Klock park on Saturday.

Approved a parade permit for an ad hoc committee headed by Fidel Garcia which is concerned with conditions of migrant workers. The parade will be held, starting at 10 a.m. Saturday. It will form at the Seely McCord school, Britain avenue, go down Britain to Riverview and into Riverview park for a rally.

Approved a parade permit for the Berrien county Olympian and Canam Games for Monday. The parade will start at 5:30 p.m., traveling from McCord to Britain to Colfax and then to the high school. Vineyard traffic to Britain will be closed during the parade.

No Rock And No 'Rock Of Ages' In New Bandshell

Bids to use the new St. Joseph bandshell for a rock music festival and for a Sunday church service were denied last night by the St. Joseph city commission.

Commissioners unanimously accepted recommendations of the Citizens Advisory committee, asked in May to formulate a policy for the bandshell amid criticism that current policy is too restrictive.

"We urge that you confine the use of the bandshell to its primary intended purpose," the committee report read, "namely the municipal band summer-time concerts and the orchestral presentations of the Twin City Federation of Musicians."

Turned down were requests by a group calling itself the Youth Cultural Development committee of St. Joseph, which had bid for a rock concert in July, and by the Fairplain Presbyterian church. The church had planned an outdoor service for Sunday, Sept. 8, to coincide with the Tri-State regatta.

The advisory committee report said there is an "absence of any compelling reason to lend the new bandshell to a purpose other than that so capably served by its predecessor." It also cited the "limited capacity of the facility in the way of tight traffic patterns, small seating accommodation, lack of restrooms, to mention a few difficulties."

The committee met July 7 in the city commission chambers. It is chaired by Walter B. Laetz. Other members are Robert Strumpler, Willard Banyon, Kenneth Bingham, John W. Platts, Franklin H. Smith and C.A. Tobias, Jr.

The committee was created by the city commission. From it have come proposals for housing inspection and pre-rental inspection programs, both now in effect.

In approving their bandshell recommendations, Commissioner Richard Globensky said the commission should reserve the right to consider future requests on their own merit.

Proposal
Enlarged
By BoardCost Estimated
At $3 For Each
$1,000 Valuation

BANGOR — Bangor school board voted at its meeting Monday to submit to voters for the sixth time an extensive building program.

Offered March 23 in a modified program, the proposal was refused. Now the board has returned to its original proposal which will cost an estimated $2,990,000.

The board proposes to have all the details completed to submit the question before the electorate Dec. 10. The program would cost tax payers about $3 per $1,000 of valuation, the board figures.

Included in the program are: a new 28-classroom elementary building with administrative offices and a serving kitchen; additions to existing elementary buildings to provide two more classrooms, art and music rooms. A remedial reading room, some remodeling and the conversion of two classrooms into a library; remodeling of the 1929 middle school building into 10 classrooms, two science rooms, two additional classrooms, an art room, a special education room, band room, and boys and girls locker rooms; and additions to the high school to include a new shop, new gymnasium, six classrooms, two science rooms, and a special education room.

Pending outcome of the election and, if its successful, completion of the buildings more room will be needed immediately, the board agreed. It authorized the leasing of four temporary school buildings at a cost of $3,500 each for the first year and $2,200 a year each after the first year.

This brings to seven the number of portable classrooms to be used next year, in addition to the five rooms being rented in the city fire department.

BOARD REORGANIZES

In its annual reorganization the board re-elected President Donald Piper for another year. Secretary Burt McKane was also re-elected. Duane Goss was elected treasurer replacing Glenn Woelke.

Meetings will be held at 8 p.m. on the second Monday of each month in the board room at the high school.

Named as depositories for the coming year were West Michigan Savings Bank of Bangor and Michigan National Bank of Battle Creek.

The accounting firm of Denton, Brabner, Helms and Lye of Grand Rapids was named to make the 1970-71 audit. Two resignations were accepted: third grade teacher Mrs. Mary Peck and second grade teacher Mrs. Carol Pakala.

The board voted to sell two 72-seat buses. Bids will be received until 4 p.m. Aug. 10, and awarded later that evening.

The payment of bills totaling $12,444 was authorized.

Examination

Shooting Case

SOUTH HAVEN — Wadsworth Hall, 59, route 1, Grand Junction, demanded a preliminary examination when arraigned Monday in Seventh District Court on a charge of felonious assault.

Hall was arrested Sunday by state police from South Haven in connection with the wounding of his wife Anita and a Joe Bell of South Haven.

The pair was shot with a .22 caliber pistol after an alleged argument. Both were released after treatment in South Haven Community hospital.

Hall was released on $1,000 pending the July 27 preliminary examination.

LANSING (AP) — The State Employment Security Commission reports the U.S. Labor Department is providing $506,084 to train 254 disadvantaged persons for full employment in Grand Rapids. HARBERT — Fire destroyed the Blue Chip cocktail lounge on Red arrow highway a half mile south of here Monday evening.

Jack Gibson, assistant chief of the Lakeside fire department, said the blaze originated in the kitchen. But he and Chief Virgil Brown were unable to determine the exact cause of the blaze which left only a shell of the building standing.

State police from the New Buffalo post said the fire marshal from Paw Paw would be called in to investigate the cause of the blaze today.

MAJOR LOSS

Joseph Demkovich of Benton Harbor is owner of the lounge. Chief Brown estimated the loss at $70,000 to $80,000. Demkovich told firemen he had purchased the business last winter. He said the loss was insured.

Firemen from Lakeside and Sawyer departments received the alarm simultaneously and were at the scene two and a half hours. Lakeside firemen remained to board up the fire-damaged building, a one-story wood frame structure with aluminum siding.

The lounge was closed Monday and a janitor left the building at 4 p.m., firemen said.

The blaze was discovered at 5:45 p.m. by Ivan Zimmerman, a Chikaming township police officer on patrol. He turned in the alarm.

FIREMEN INJURED

Sawyer Fire Chief James Kasper said Fireman John Olson of Sawyer sustained a lacerated hand getting in the door. John Hubert, Lakeside fireman, got some debris in one eye and was treated by a physician.

The only thing saved from the building was some frozen meat in a freezer in one corner of the kitchen section. All equipment and furniture was ruined, Gibson said.

Firemen said flames were pouring from an exhaust fan duct in the roof when they arrived. When the last flames were put out, only the walls and roof were standing.

City Sells
2 Mowers
At Bangor

BANGOR — The Bangor city council sold two used self-propelled mowers at its regular meeting Monday evening, netting a total of $865.

George Jedlicka of South Haven purchased the smallest of the two mowers with a high bid of $210. Seven bids were received.

A larger mower received five bids for its purchase. The council accepted the high bid of Ed Gustafson of Hartford, who offered $655.

NEW LAW

In an effort to control toxic and obnoxious weeds the city council passed an ordinance prohibiting their growth on vacant lots. The new law is aimed at controlling such things as poison ivy, ragweed and burdock.

It provides that if a property owner doesn't attend to their destruction, the city will, and may assess the cost against the offending property.

A request from Harding Market officials to approve a SDM beer and wine takeout license was referred to committee for study.

The Disabled American Veterans organization was given permission to sell forget-me-nots Aug. 14-15.

Bills totaling $15,351 were authorized for payment from the general fund.

More Lake Excavation Approved

Lake Michigan college may return to intercollegiate athletic competition. The board of trustees approved application for membership in the Michigan Community College Athletic association last night, and indicated the college would stand half of the estimated $20,000 cost of fielding teams in at least three sports.

Return to intercollegiate sports, dropped in 1966, will depend on student support to the extent of footing the other half of the cost with student funds. President James Lehman said a student poll will be taken at the start of the new school year to determine student backing.

Provided the LMC application is approved, there will be a one year wait to get into league competition.

Lehman said the student senate recommended return to intercollegiate sports last spring, and the LMC Academic Council stamped its okay on the proposal.

MORE LAKE

In another action last night the trustees approved the remaining lake excavation in front of the new campus buildings to completely surround the building complex with water. A three-acre area is to be excavated to the left of the new entrance to the buildings as part of Phase II construction now in progress, and the trustees approved excavation of a 1½-acre area on the other side of the entryway as a speeded up part of Phase III work. Digging of the larger area hopefully is to start by Aug. 1, and the smaller area by Sept. 1.

OWNERS PROTEST

South Haven Gives Up
Street Improvement

SOUTH HAVEN — City Council Monday night, in the wake of protests from property owners, voted to abandon its plans to improve boulevard between Alyworth avenue and the southern city limits.

Several property owners objected to a $123,000 improvement program for Monroe at the council's July 6 meeting. Last night's special session was called to review alternative improvement programs.

City Manager Albert Pierce presented a plan that would call for keeping the road at its same width while applying bituminous asphalt. Project cost was estimated at $24,373. Pierce estimated that the Monroe boulevard would need attention again in six to eight years. The original improvement, which called for curbs, gutters and a major leveling of the road, was estimated to last 25 years.

The council voted to abandon the project idea until property owners take the initiative to petition for improvements they feel are necessary.

The city intends to continue plans to improve Alyworth avenue from Indiana west to Monroe as well as Church street between Pearl and Wilson streets, Pearce said.

Judge Denies New Trial,
Will Mete Out Sentence

Narcotic Penalty Is 20 Years

By STEVE McQUOWN

PAW PAW — Formal sentencing of a Paw Paw man convicted of illegal sale of marijuana has been tentatively set for July 20.

Van Buren Circuit Court Judge David Anderson, Jr. set the tentative sentencing date Monday after denying motions for a new trial and a directed verdict in the case of Anthony Misuraca, 22.

The charge and a subsequent conviction carries a minimum mandatory sentence of 20 years in prison.

Misuraca was found guilty by a circuit court jury on May 20. He remains free on $5,000 bond.

James Brignall, a Kalamazoo attorney representing Misuraca, said he probably would not know whether his client intends to appeal the conviction further until the day of sentencing.

In asking for a directed verdict of innocent from Judge Anderson, Brignall had attacked Misuraca's classification as a narcotic; the 20-year term which accompanies a conviction; and quoted from reports and pamphlets the results of research on marijuana.

Brignall also questioned certain decisions made in the admission and omission of certain testimony and the use of testimony of three persons in establishing a chain of transfer of a substance described as marijuana from Misuraca to a police informant.

MOTIONS DENIED

At the conclusion of the nearly two-hour hearing, Judge Anderson denied motions for a directed verdict and a new trial and set the tentative date for formal sentencing.

In his own summary, one of Judge Anderson's points was that the classification of marijuana as a narcotic, and the sentence for selling marijuana, was a "legislative determination" of the State of Michigan, and not his own.

Brignall is a Democratic candidate for the state legislature seat now held by Republican William V. Weber of Kalamazoo.

He is unopposed in the August primary.

He said personally he is opposed to marijuana's classification as a narcotic and is in favor of a lesser sentence for those convicted of selling marijuana.

A bill encompassing similar ideas was passed by the Michigan House this year but failed in the Senate.

The board in other matters authorized preliminary construction work to begin on a football field on the north side of the high school. The cost is not to exceed $1,200. Whether the field can be in use by September is not determined. Covert last year initiated a football team, but does not have a home field.

Defense May Accept Jury In Tate Case

LOS ANGELES (AP) — After questioning 141 persons in four weeks, defense and prosecution attorneys appeared ready today to accept seven men and five women as the jury to try the Sharon Tate murder case.

The only reservations about the proposed panel came from Irving Kanarek, attorney for defendant Charles Manson, 35-year-old shaggy-haired leader of a hippie-type "family."

Kanarek said no one on the jury represented Manson's "way of life."

Three Hurt In Lincoln Car Mishap

Three persons received minor injuries in a two-car collision yesterday on Red Arrow highway, one and one-fourth miles south of Johnson road, Lincoln township, Berrien Deputy Dave Tiefenbach reported.

Treated and released from St. Joseph Memorial hospital were the two drivers, James E. Thompson, 43, of Dune Woods road, Bridgman, and Frederick Zink, 22, of 1443 East Napier avenue.

Zink's wife, Kathleen, 22, was treated for a fractured collarbone.

Tiefenbach said Zink's car was struck when he coasted out of a driveway and came to a stop in the center of the roadway. Zink told the deputy the car had jumped out of gear.

Zink was issued a summons for failure to have his vehicle under control.

EX-CONVICT: Robert N. Harms, an American working for a construction firm in South Vietnam, said he spent 11 months in Chi Hoa Prison in Saigon in 1968 on a false charge of profiteering in the South Vietnamese money market. He said there is no difference between Chi Hoa prison and Con Son prison where "tiger cages" were reported. He appeared at a Washington news conference Monday arranged by Rep. William R. Anderson, D-Tenn., who as a member of a House committee, recently visited South Vietnam and uncovered the story of "tiger cages" in Con Son Prison. (AP Wirephoto).

MacDonald Re-Elected To Head School Board

DOWAGIAC — Paul MacDonald was re-elected president of the Dowagiac school board at the annual reorganization meeting Monday evening.

Dale Warsco was elected to another term as treasurer of the board. Mrs. Dorothy Phillipson was named secretary to replace John Scherer.

To complete the reorganizational provisions the board: (1) set its regular meeting on the third Monday of each month at the Central junior high school conference room — (2) named Community State Bank and First National Bank of Southwestern Michigan, both Dowagiac institutions, as depositories.

Lee Marsh, Union high school mathematics teacher, submitted a letter of resignation. But, the board voted to accept it only "if and when a suitable replacement can be found."

The board holds that the resignation came after the legal deadline for mandatory acceptance.

Three persons were hired. They are Lawrence Crandall, a graduate of Central Michigan university, to teach government at the high school; Mrs. Caroline Goss of route 6, Dowagiac to be the school nurse; and Dale Bunce of Whitehall to teach elementary physical education.

Acting superintendent Dexter Clough reported that if the school's population reaches 4,250 students as is expected next year the state aid formula would give the district $1,539,861. The year just past saw the school district receive $1,379,846 in state aid.

He said that the district was anticipating an increase in population of 48 students next year.

THEOLOGY GRAD: Benjamin D. Schoun, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Schoun of Berrien Springs, graduated with honors from Andrews university. He received a bachelor of arts degree in theology.

Detroit Sentenced To 90 Days

PAW PAW — A Detroit man, convicted in Van Buren Circuit Court in June of a charge of indecent exposure, was sentenced Monday to a term of 90 days in county jail.

Clarence H. Vorpapel, 63, was arrested in October last year after an alleged incident in a Paw Paw parking lot involving a man and a 3-year-old girl. Judge David Anderson, Jr. gave Vorpapel a week to see to personal affairs before beginning his jail sentence.

In other court cases Monday:

George L. Sanders, 37, South Haven, pleaded innocent to a supplemental information filed by County Prosecutor William Buhl alleging that Sanders, now awaiting sentencing on a charge of possession of a stolen auto, has had at least three prior felony convictions.

If Sanders is found guilty, the supplemental information increases the maximum term of the recent conviction from 10 years to life imprisonment and would make Sanders ineligible for parole until his minimum sentence is served.

William Clifton, 19, of South Haven, pleaded guilty to a charge of forgery.

Miriam Alice Collins, 36, of rural Lawrence, pleaded innocent to a charge of breaking and entering an occupied dwelling.
